At Elpaso, Texas, yesterday, Manuel Rodriguez killed his wife and he and his paramour were afterwards killed in resisting officers—President and Mrs. Roosevelt went yesterday to her country place, Pine Knot, in Virginia, where Mr. Roosevelt will work on his message to Congress——At Bath, Me., yesterday the Mallory Steamship Company, recently scooped by the Morse steamship trust, was reorganidation with a capital stock of $14,000,000—In a meeting at Americus Ga., yesterday, the Georgia Daughters of the Confederacy had an interesting report concerning the erection of a monument to Major Wirz, prison keeper at Andersonville during the Civil War——A grand jury in Vermont yesterday returned ten indictments against two packing houses and two State officials for selling and shipping out of the State diseased beef; one of the companies was fined $3,000 for refusing to bring certain papers and documents into court as evidence——Hughes supporters claim that he will carry New York next Tuesday by 200,000, while Hearst's friends say the Republicans are routed and they know it——The divorce suit of Countess Anna Gould de Castellane against Count began in Paris yesterday and racy disclosures were made by her counsel; he struck her four months after they were married, lived a shameful and profligate life, and squandered $8,000,000 in a short while——The latest report from the renegade Ute Indians in Wyoming is that they are quietly hunting and that there is no likelihood of clash with the troops keeping touch with them; soldiers captured a lot of Indian ponies but the Red Skins surrounded them and recaptured them——New York markets: Money on call firmer and higher, 5 1-2 to 8 1-2 per cent., ruling rate 7 1-2, closing bid 5, offered at 6; spot cotton quiet, 10.50; flour firm; wheat firm, No. 2 red, 81 3-4 elevator; corn steady; No. 2, 56 elevator; oats firm, mixed, 38; turpentine and rosin firm.

Many a man would like to have a seat in the United States Senate, but they haven't got the price.

A Republican editor writes about Democratic promises and Republican performances. We have seen those Republicans performances and while the show is still going on we demand our money back.

If we never get a seat in the United States Senate we do not hesitate to declare that we would never buy one. It is said that in some States a Senatorship costs $100,000. But few men have that much spare change.

As the trusts didn't furnish much boodle to the Republican campaign fund (as we know of) it was a matter of economy to put the members of the cabinet into the field as spellbinders. They are already paid by all the people.

No wonder the Republicans of New York have raised a howl because Hearst has published the expressed sentiments of Roosevelt and himself in parallel columns. It brought them face to face with the fact that the virtues of Roosevelt are nothing more nor less than the criminality of Hearst.

An Oklahoma newspaper edited by an Indian and printed in Indian, says: "Hinka Democratic party ibulkahat eyesa hosh. Nan ulhutuka, moma che, Chukta okla y ses mih shki." That's right. Every white man should stick to the Democratic party. Surely you won't let an Indian have more sense than you.

In the New York campaign Tuesday Hearst three a bomb-shell into the radical camp by publishing in parallel columns extracts from speeches of President Roosevelt, showing that he and Hearst stand for the same things that are being denounced as socialistic and anarchistic in Hearst. Roosevelt in his over-much speaking has said things that are staring him in the face.

A writer in the New York Herald says: "Men should hide their mouths, because men's mouths as a general thing are not worth looking at." That may be so but nevertheless a lot of men will continue to go around mouthing and chewing the rag without any regard to the fact that their tall traps do not add to their personal [illegible]ichritude.

OCTOBER WEDDINGS

Three Pretty Ceremonies Yesterday and Last Night of Much Interest to Many

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLES

Miss Alice A. Curtis and Mr. A. Warwick—Miss Emma Croom and Mr. M. F. Croom—Pretty Marriage Near Currie at Noon.

Three marriages of quite a good deal of interest to a large number of friends in this city and elsewhere, were celebrated in Wilmington and vicinity yesterday afternoon and last night. The ceremonies are described as being very pretty indeed and were attended by large numbers of friends and relatives of the parties to the marriage vows.

Curtis—Warwick.

At the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ruth E. Curtis, No. 809 South Fifth street, at 9 o'clock last night, a beautiful ceremony performed by the Rev. Fred D. Hale, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist Church, joined in marriage Miss Alice A. Curtis, an attractive young lady of this city, and Mr. Hardy Warwick, a popular young employe of the Cape Fear Lumber Company in Wilmington. The home which had been very prettily decorated for the occasion was thronged with admiring friends and relatives of the young people and every detail of the arrangements for the pretty affair was carried out with charming precision. The bride wore a becoming costume of white chiffon and carried a lovely bouquet of bride's roses and maiden hair ferns. She was attended as maid of honor by her friend, Miss Letitia Aman, who was similarly attired and carried carnations. The groom was attended, as best man, by Mr. W. P. Conner. They wore the convential black with boutonieres of carnations.

Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Warwick received the happiest felicitations of their large number of friends at an elegant reception that was given in their honor. Dainty refreshments were served and a large number of very handsome wedding gifts on display showed the great popularity of the young people. One especially valued present was by the fellow-employes of Mr. Warwick at the mill, a very handsome Morris chair.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Mr. King of Georgetown, S. C., a friend of the groom, and Mrs. H. M. Russ, of Conway, S. C., a sister of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Warwick will reside at No. 801 South Fifth street.

Croom—Croom.

At 9:30 o'clock last night at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. L. M. LeGwin, in this city, Mr. Major F. Croom and Miss Emma C. Croom, of Currie, N. C., were married in a quiet but very pretty ceremony performed by the Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. There were present a number of intimate friends and relatives of the parties to the marriage vow and after the wedding they received the happiest congratulations of many. Elegant refreshments were served during the progress of a reception which followed the marriage. Among the guests from out of the city were: Mr. and Mrs. B. F. McLean, of Maxton, Mrs. McLean being a sister of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Croom will make their home at the handsome residence of the groom on Dock, between Sixth and Seventh streets. Both the bride and groom have a large number of friends here and elsewhere, who will be interested and pleased to know of their marriage.

Ward—Ward.

Yesterday at high noon at Keith Presbyterian Church, five miles from Currie, N. C., on the A. & Y. railroad, a beautiful wedding joined in marriage Mr. A. D. Ward and Miss Mary C. Ward, the attractive young daughter of Sheriff A. C. Ward, of Pender county. The church was prettily decorated and the blinds having been drawn, a very pretty lighting effect was possible, lending a rare charm to the scene. The ceremony was by the Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, of this place, and there were present a large number of friends to witness the happy event in the lives of the young people to the marriage vow. The color scheme of the wedding was white and blue and this was very prettily carried out.

The ushers were Messrs. George Highsmith and C. D. Murphy, while the attendants were Miss Zelma Bland of Burgaw, and Mr. George Ward; Miss Belle Smith and Mr. James F. Moore; Miss Leta Larkins, of Wilmington and Mr. John Hawes; Miss Hattie Lou Ward and Prof. C. H. Weatherly. The maids of honor were Miss Donnie Ward and Miss Isla Ward. The flower girl was little Miss Katie Taylor, while the ring bearer was little Miss Esther Ward. The bride was given away by her father. The groom was attended by his best man, Mr. J. O. Ward. The wedding marches were very prettily rendered by Miss Sallie Herring.

The bride wore a becoming costume of white silk, lace insertion tulle veil and carried bride's roses. The maids of honor were in blue and carried carnations. The brides maids were in white and carried carnations.

Following the ceremony at the church the wedding guests were entertained at a sumptuous dinner at the home of the bride's parents. A large number of very handsome wedding gifts were received in testimony of the high esteem in which both the bride and groom are held. Following the reception at the Ward home, the couple left on the A. & Y. train for an extensive bridal tour.

IMMIGRANTS ARRIVE

Party of New England Farmers and Gardeners Here to Locate at Carolina Trucking Development Company's Settlement.

A party of some twenty or twenty-five intelligent, industrious and thrifty New England farmers and market gardeners arrived in the city Tuesday night and left yesterday morning for Artesia, the new suburban settlement of the Carolina Trucking & Development Co., on the W. C. & A. railroad near Whiteville where they will locate. The party was brought South by the Rev. W. S. Key and his wife, who delivered a series of lectures and addresses upon the "Resources of North Carolina" throughout the New England States during their vacation the past Summer. The party also includes a number of farm hands and mechanics, who will make their homes at the new settlement of the Development Company.

Rev. Mr. Key, who came here from the North to deliver a series of sermons on the Unitarian faith last Winter, was so signally impressed with the climate and advantages in Eastern Carolina that he decided to utilize his Summer vacation in telling others of the prospect here and the colony which arrived yesterday is the result of his first trip into New England. Should the colonists now here become satisfied with their new homes, others will come and a large number of them will locate on the large land holdings of the Carolina Trucking Development Co., in this section.

The party of settlers now at Artesia are all well-to-do, intelligent and were guests while in the city at The Orton annex. Mrs. Key joined the travellers at Philadelphia and as Dr. Key expresses it, will "mother" the women and children of the colony at their new homes which are now being located and erected for them at Artesia.

MR. J. C. GORE ASSIGNED.

Former Wilmington Man Unsuccessful in Clarkton Business Venture.

Mr. J. C. Gore, formerly with the D. L. Gore Company in this city, but for the last year or more in business for himself at Clarkton, N. C., has made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, several of whom in this city received notice to this effect yesterday. Mr. Gore was engaged in general merchandising and poor collections is the reason assigned for the failure. It is thought that the liabilities will be about $3,500 or $4,000 with the assets nominally about the same.

Mr. Gore has a great many friends in Wilmington who will hear of his reverses with much regret.

MR. CLEMENTS TO RETURN.

Popular Young Wilmingtonian Coming Back to The Orton.

It is announced by Manager Hinton, of The Orton, that Mr. Julian R. Clements, the well known young hotel man, has been secured as successor to Mr. R. M. Hankinson as chief clerk at the hosteiry. Mr. Clements is now with the Albion to which he went from the Yarborough, in Raleigh, a short time ago and resigns there to come back to "his first love." He was chief clerk at the Seashore Hotel last Summer and is well known to the travelling public. His return to Wilmington will be hailed with delight by a large number of friends here and on the road in this territory.

THE FEDERAL COURT

Two Cases From Cumberland County Engaged All of the Session Yesterday

TRIAL OF CAPT. L. McLEAN

Will Begin This Morning in All Probability—Witnesses Here to Testify—Number of Bills Returned By Grand Jury.

The United States District Court was engaged practically all day yesterday in the trial of one case from Cumberland county, that in which D. McN. Ray, a man of some prominence, was charged with operating an unlicensed still, etc. The case occupied all the morning session of the court and when a recess for the day was taken at 2 o'clock the jury had just retired. A verdict was not rendered until 3 o'clock in the afternoon and the court not being in session, it was sealed and will not be returned formally until this morning. Whether the verdict is guilty or not guilty will not be known until court convenes at 9.30 o'clock. The case was hard fought on both sides, the defendant having been represented by Samuel H. MacRae, Esq., and ex-Judge Thos. H. Sutton, of Fayetteville. A vigorous prosecution was conducted by District Attorney Skinner and Assistant District Attorney J. A. Giles. The case was begun about 11 o'clock and with the number of witnesses examined and the argument of counsel to the jury, it was three hours later when it was completed. Mr. Ray is an extensive land owner and it seems that the still was found on his place and in sight of his house. The burden upon the government was to prove that the illicit still belonged to Mr. Ray.

The only other case tried yesterday was that of George A. Raynor, of Cumberland, charged with the operation of an unlicensed still. He was found guilty but judgment in the case was reserved.

It is almost certain that the case of Capt. Lauchlin McLean, master of the British steamer Osceola, will be tried to-day and all arrangements to that end are being made. The grand jury yesterday returned a true bill and New Hanover cases will be called today according to the rule that obtains in the court.

The case will be one of the most interesting of the term. Messrs. Rountree & Carr and Bellamy & Bellamy will appear for Capt. McLean. Hon. James Haughton, British Vice Consul at Newport News, and the boarding master at that port, are here to testify for the defence. The case is very familiar to the public. It is learned that a new statute was passed this year which provides a penalty for taking on board any seaman in the least intoxicated or under the influence of any drug, and that this charge may be brought out on the defendant, though the defence is quite sure that this cannot be proven to the satisfaction of the jury.

The following true bills were returned by the grand jury yesterday: J. R. Sholar, Cumberland, retailing. Nathan Hill, Cumberland, retailing. S. W. Hall, Cumberland, retailing and distilling. Lon C. Patton, alias John Ferguson, alias Charles E. Moloch, forgery of a U. S. Army warrant. T. M. Savage, I. S. Davis and Archie Guthrie, violation of navigation laws. Frank McArthur, Cumberland, retailing. Ed. Buras, Cumberland, retailing. Frank McArthur, Cumberland, retailing. J. P. Thompson, Bladen, retailing. Not a true bill was returned in the case of James Barfield, Cumberland, charged with retailing.

The case against the defendant named above for forgery grows out a United States Army warrant that he is alleged to have forged and passed upon some one at Fort Caswell some time ago, the amount being about $280. The defendant has never been taken and the return of the bill is a mere formality. The case against Messrs. Savage, Guthrie and Davis, mentioned above, charges that they violated the navigation laws of the country by mooring a boat to a buoy or channel mark. The case was tried before a United States Commissioner some time ago and was dismissed, but is re-instated on the docket upon a bill from the District Attorney's office upon a report of the case from the Department at Washington.

DISTRICT MEETING.

Knights of Pythias of Wilmington Section Will Assemble at Clarkton November 15th—Special Train to be Run

The Knights of Pythias of this jurisdiction of which District Deputy John F. Littleton, of Wilmington, is in charge, have arranged for a big district meeting at Clarkton, N. C., on the fifteenth of the coming month. The district includes the lodges here, at Southport, Whiteville, Chadbourn, Council's and perhaps others and from the central location decided upon, it is expected that there will be a very large attendance. Arrangements have been made for a special train from Wilmington leaving after work hours on the evening of the meeting and returning after the exercises at night. The train will be over the Seaboard Air Line and it has already been chartered. The rate will be very low and it is hoped to carry at least one hundred Knights from this city alone.

The Clarkton people have arranged to entertain the visitors handsomely and the programme of exercises will include some interesting features. The committee in charge are endeavoring to have the Grand Chancellor of the State present and there will also be other speakers of note present. If expedient the degree work of the order will be put on in amplified form by a picked team from all the lodges. This will prove decidedly interesting for the Pythians.

It is expected that the programme for the occasion can be announced in a few days. District Deputy Littleton has completed all arrangements for the special train from Wilmington and is now at work on the programme of the exercises.

MR. DECKER TO LEAVE CITY.

Accepts Notable Engagement With Famous Opera Star—Go Abroad.

Mr. W. Scott Decker, who for more than a year has been in charge of the Steiff Music House in this city and has made for himself a very great many friends as well as having built up a large business for his house, will leave this evening for Providence, R. I., to join Mrs. Decker, who preceded him about two weeks ago on a visit to relatives in that city. From Providence Mr. Decker goes on Tuesday to Boston where he becomes secretary-treasurer of the Hortense Neilson Opera Company, one of the most notable opera attractions put out this season by Klaw & Erlanger, the famous booking agents and theatrical proprietors of the country.

Mr. Decker will be with the Hortense Neilson company in this country until July, when it will be taken for a tour abroad including India, Austria, Japan, China and South Africa. Mrs. Decker and little son will accompany Mr. Decker on the tour abroad.

There is local interest in Mr. Decker's engagement from the fact that Miss Neilson is expected in Wilmington about the middle of February to appear under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus. Friends of Mr. Decker look forward with pleasure to seeing him then. His departure from Wilmington, now is generally regretted.

Their Infant Son Dead.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Seitter, who live at the experiment farm of the Carolina Trucking and Development Company, on the suburban car line, had the misfortune to lose their infant son, Emile Otto, aged 13 months, by death yesterday morning. DEPOT AT PEMBROKE

Corporation Commission Orders Union Station There by A. C. L. and Seaboard

IDENTITY OF DEAD MAN

Machinist Killed by Railroad Detective is Still Unknown—Two Fayetteville Enterprises are Chartered Other Raleigh News Notes.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 31.—The Corporation Commission made an order to-day for the Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line railroad companies to erect a union depot at Pembroke, Robeson county, adequate to the needs of the place within 60 days. Also the two roads to provide suitable joint freight facilities. Pembroke is the junction of the Carolina Central road of the Seaboard System and the Wilson short cut of the Atlantic Coast Line.

The identity of the man killed here by the Seaboard Air Line Railway Policeman Bivens Saturday night remains in doubt, he having been identified as both W. H. Bryson of Chatham county, and James Southall of Petersburg. However, he is most probably Bryson as he has tattoo marks on his arms that seem to correspond with marks on the arm of Bryson. Bivens is still in jail without bail and there will probably be no further effort to secure bail since the evidence showed strongly that the man was runnng from the officer when shot and that in view of the slight offense of hoboing on the train, did not warrant the officer in using his weapons in an effort to arrest.

The Cumberland Savings and Trust Company, a new banking enterprise, was chartered to-day for Fayetteville. The capital is $30,000 authorized and $10,000 subscribed by Frank H. Stedman, F. S. Clark and H. W. Lilly, Mr. Stedman holding 92 of the 100 shares subscribed.

The Fayetteville Development Company was chartered to-day with $150,000 capital authorized and $4,000 subscribed by W. J. McDairmid and others for the development of real estate.

PRIMROSE MINSTRELS GOOD.

Return of Old-Time Class Heartily Welcomed in Wilmington.

Old-time negro minstrelsy received a hearty welcome upon its return to Wilmington with the appearance of Mr. George Primrose and an excellent company at the Academy of Music yesterday matinee and night. The music, singing, dancing, stage settings, etc., were all and more than could be desired and the minstrels were the equal or better than anything seen here this season. Mr. Primrose personally received a most enthusiastic welcome upon his return. He is just as clever, just as graceful in his dancing specialties and just as appreciative as he ever was and the latch string will always hang on the outside to him in this burg.

But the Primrose show is not a one-man affair. It is an all-star cast and there were no favorites last night. It is the verdict of those who saw the show that all were good. Emile Subers, introduced in the first part as a "Georgia Primrose" took the audience by storm and did a very clever stunt for 20 minutes to the repeated encores of the audience. Funny songs, parodies, monologues with a rasp or two at local institutions kept the crowd in a good humor from start to finish. Eddie Horan was clever in his singing and dancing and Charles Reinhardt could have had the stage yet if the house had been so inconsiderate and he had been so kind.

In the second part the drill of the Southern Cadets and the "Silver Shower Clog" dance were prime favorites. The finale, a grand spectacular transformation, with a highly illuminated picture of Gen. Robert E. Lee, was a fitting close to the old-time Southern scenes that had preceded.

SIXTEEN PER CENT. INCREASE.

Postoffice Receipts at Wilmington Continue on Ascendency.

According to the official figures obtained from Postmaster Thos. E. Wallace, the receipts at the Wilmington postoffice for the month of October ended last night were $8,400.17 against only $7,239.61 same month last year, an increase of $1,160.56, or 16 per cent. The showing is very creditable indeed when it is recalled that last October was the heaviest in the history of the postoffice up to that time. The postoffice receipts show a very healthy condition of business affairs at Wilmington.

OUR RELATIONS WITH JAPAN.

If we were to judge from the editorials of many newspapers in this country, we are in danger of a war with Japan because some Japanese pupils have been excluded from the public schools of San Francisco. That is a merely local incident for which the United States is in no way responsible, and the Japanese are too sensible a people to want to go to war many believe that while the school controversy is of no consequence the Japanese are merely looking for an excuse to quarrel with the United States in order to carry out a design to seize the Philippines. The New Orleans Picayune alluding to the incident says:

"This shows how prompt the Japanese Government is to claim and maintain its real or imagined rights against the American people. There is a deep-seated belief that there is something more behind this affair than the indignation of a nation, because the Japanese children in San Francisco were excluded from the white schools and sent to one expressly provided. There are those who believe that any excuse was wanted to pick a quarrel with the United States, so that the Philippines may be seized before any efficient defense can be made. The Japanese Navy is near at hand, while ours is many thousands of miles away.

"The treaty of peace between Japan and Russia, made in the United States contained an express provision that Manchuria, whether occupied by Japan or Russia, must be returned intact to China. Notwithstanding this solemn requirement of the treaty, having fought a successful war and obtained control of Manchuria, Japan now wants to remain in that region. Everything that could be done to solidify Japanese control over Manchuria has been done, and it was so flagrantly in violation of the terms of the treaty of Portsmouth that Secretary Root, by direction of the President, protested and demanded that Japan observe the solemn pledges made in treaty and in repeated notes to the United States. Responding to the protest, Japan gave formal assurances that it would withdraw from Manchuria and not hinder American trade."

We are not surprised to see that Japan is pursuing the policy attributed to her with reference to Manchuria. It is just what we expected that she would do and we do not presume that many of the statesmen either of the country or of European powers are at all surprised that Japan is holding on to Manchuria and intended all along to do so.

We anticipate no serious trouble with Japan over the San Francisco school incident, but the alarm raised over the possibility or even the probability of war serves to impress two facts upon us—one that our colonial adventure in the Philippines renders this country vulnerable to attack, and the [illegible] that if we keep up the colonial scheme there we must have the biggest navy of all the countries of the world. The long and short of it is, if we persist in "imperialism" or "colonialism" we may as well let up on any antagonism to the "big stick" idea and all fall into line with Captain Hobson's advocated hoby and President Roosevelt's policy for a big naval establishment. If we keep the Philippines we must have a big navy, and if we don't have a big navy we will get caught napping when Japan or any other country takes a fancy to our far eastern possessions. The present scare is healthy for the "big stick."

MEXICO BUSTS THE TRUSTS.

The Savannah Morning News says:

"The Mexican government fights trusts in a practical and direct sort of way. When the meat trust advanced the price of meat to a practically prohibitive figure, so far as the poor were concerned, the government went into the business and undersold the trust, at the same time giving better meats. The competition had its effect and the trust quickly reduced prices. The government has made arrangements whereby it can go into the meat business on a very large scale at any time the trust becomes too greedy."

That will give Col. Bryan a new wrinkle. It might be a good idea to hold a threat of Mexicanization over the beef trust in this country.

NO FAITH WITHOUT WORKS.

Says the Greensboro Industrial News (Rep.):

"It may be possible that the Democratic leaders really labor under the delusion that they will carry the Eighth district; but if this be true, why are they piling into that district almost every prominent Democratic speaker in the State?"

If the Democrats had an idea that they could carry the district without canvassing it, "delusion" would be a mighty good word to describe their State of belief, but the fact that they invaded the district with speakers is an evidence of faith that they could or would carry it in the election. Faith without works is nothing, or words to that effect. Go on.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—Just about the time we get through with the campaign we must tackle the Legislature.—Raleigh Times.

—Senator Clark, of Montana, has had enough of the Senate. He is able to own a seat in that body, but will give it up, while others who are not able to buy one are anxious to get a seat. It is the way of the world.—Nashville American.

—Following our editorial yesterday on the system of prescription writing one doctor has discontinued his subscription to The News. We expected no less, and will be entirely satisfied if he, and the others who are writing them promiscuously, will also cut out their prescriptions. It's a little significant that one of this very doctor's patients was fined $20 in the Recorder's Court this morning for a prescription drunk.—Charlotte News.

—The negro ministers of the Centerville circuit of the Methodist church in Delaware have formed an association and pledged themselves to "denounce all crime and lawlessness" and to assist the authorites by every means in their power to bring violators of the law to their race to justice. The organization will do good work, if it lives up to its declarations. Too often negro violators of the law are shielded and hidden by negroes, merely because of their color. The way to make the law respected is to enforce it, without respect to color.—Savannah News.

—Arkansas has imposed a fine of $10,000 on a packing company for violating the State anti-trust law. The ice trust men in Toledo, who were convicted last Summer of violating the State's anti-trust law, have been moved one stage nearer to the jail by the refusal of an Appellate Court to interfere with their sentences. The Ohio courts have also convicted two other trusts, and the Supreme Court of Illinois has laid the axe at the root of the tree by enjoining the sale of one corporation to another, the effect of which was to create a monopoly. The administration and the Republican orators are making all the noise, but the State courts, in accordance with the opinion of Mr. Cleveland, are sawing the wood.—Philadelphia Record.

—The Pullman Car Company is making a futile effort to dodge the new railroad rate law. It claims to be running a hotel on wheels. The scheme, however, will not work. A Chicago dispatch says that the State of Illinois statutes regulating hotels would require the Pullman company to provide a register for its guests and see to it that everybody who engages a berth registers. It will also have to install an iron safe in each of its cars for the safe custody of the money and valuables of each guest. It will also have to reconstruct its cars so that the doors will open outward instead of inward. The Pullman company in its attempt to play this game, will be very likely jacked up.—Charlotte Chronicle.

BITTEN BY VICIOUS DOG.

Animal Eats and Lacerates Both Hands of Child.

Gaffney, S. C., Oct. 29.—A little child of Mr. and Mrs. Elish Scruggs, while lying in bed at home this afternoon, had both hands and arms eaten and lacerated by a vicious hog, which in some manner managed to get into the bed where the child was lying. Dr. Allen, who attended the child, says that it is probable the child will lose both hands. The child was alone in the house at the time, the parents being out looking after something about the yard. The child was a boy about two years of age. The Scruggs' live about twelve miles from Gaffney.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit Mich.

A Year of Blood.

The year 1903 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tacket, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tacket's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me at death's door, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astounding result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored and as time has proven permanently cured." Guaranteed for Sore Lungs, Coughs and Colds, at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

RURAL DELIVERY AND GOOD ROADS

Government Requires the Country Must Have Good Roads and Bridged Streams If It Expects Mails Delivered Free.

The Star publishes by request the following furnished by W. P. Edwards, rural letter carrier, on Route No. 1, Franklinton, N. C.:

"It is announced that the government will look more carefuly to the enforcement of its rule regarding the roads over which rural free delivery is established. The present requirement is: 'Roads traversed shall be kept in good condition and unobstructed by gates; there must be no unbridged creeks or streams not fordable at any season of the year.' In many cases the residents along proposed routes have made improvements that enable them to obtain rural delivery service. But sometimes the efforts to keep up the roads are relaxed. But the government has decided that unless the roads traveled by carriers are properly maintained the service will be withdrawn. The Postoffice Department now calls on the carriers for reports on the roads, and will stop the service where the highways in question are bad.

"The 35,973 rural delivery carriers now employed cover 863,363 miles daily, and it is unreasonable to expect them to contend with neglected roads or to work for communities lacking the enterprise to keep their common highways in decent shape.

Wherever a route is discontinued the inhabitants themselves will be to blame for it, for if alive to their own interest and their duty to the public they would give their roads vigorous and constant attention. The idea that a route once authorized is necessarily permanent is a mistake. Advice on the best methods of road working is applied by the Agricultural Department at Washington, D. C., Division of Good Roads, and can be obtained for the mere asking. And a neighborhood that loses its rural delivery must itself bear the discredit for so unpleasant and humiliating an event."

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—The remains of Col. Joseph Winston, interred in the Old Bynum graveyard near Germantown in 1847, will be removed to-day to the Guilford abttie ground.

—Raleigh News and Observer.—The Wake County Savings Bank, Raleigh's youngest banking institution, passed the hundred thousand dollar mark in deposits on yesterday. This bank is only a little over a year old.

—The Newton Enterprise says Major Flanigan has the "gold craze." He has discovered a monument in his graveyard on Broad street. He has had some rock assayed and it shows considerable gold. He is in a quandary, he has a monument that is worth possibly $150 and he says it is likely to contain $13,000 worth of gold., but he cannot decide which he would rather have.

—On Wednesday and Thursday of last week occurred the heaviest frost and most severe freeze Watauga county has ever known so early in the year. All the crops not gathered are severely injured, if not completely ruined. Nearly all the apples were still on the trees and not only will the Watauga people suffer from the effects of the freeze, but other mountain communities also suffered severely.

—New Bern special, Oct. 30—The largest missionary contribution ever made in this city, was subscribed Sunday at the Centenary Methodist Church, where $2,550 was donated to the cause of foreign missions. The pastor. Rev. G. T. Adams, stated that no particular effort had been made to increase the subscriptions. The cause had been presented in the usual way and the church appropriation had been met.

—Reidsville special, Oct. 30.—Of all the political demonstrations held in Reidsville the champion was the one to-night. It was the occasion of the visit of Hon. C. B. Aycock who addressed an unusually large gathering He made a fine speech. A torch-light parade was a feature. It was for Democracy the biggest demonstration since the notable Vance-Settle campaign.

—Charlotte Observer, Octc. 28—Miss Clara Sunderland, an English girl, who came over here from Bolton, England several weeks ago, was married at the First Presbyterian Church at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon to Mr. Frank Stockdale, an English plasterer, who is employed on the new Selwyn Hotel. The love affair which ripened into the happy climax of yesterday, began soon after Miss Sunderland arrived here. The English men and women who are stopping here, witnessed the ceremony. After the marriage Mr. and Mrs. Stockdale went to Dilworth, where they will live. The English girls are planting themselves here.

—Mr. James H. Carson, who was one of the oldest and best known residents of Charlotte, died at his home on South Tryon street Tuesday morning. Mr. Carson had been in declining health for some time. He suffered a stroke of paralysis Sunday, from which he never recovered. He was one of the wealthiest citizens of Charlotte. The Charlotte Chronicle says: "When we speak of the death of Mr. James Carson it is to tell of the passing away of one of the few surviving representative men of the city of older times. Mr. Carson had been identified with all that is good in the Charlotte of the past. In his active days he did a great deal toward the development of the gold mining industry of Mecklenberg and by his own practical work and the success which he achieved did much to attract investors to Charlotte."

—Greensboro special, Oct. 30—Seven cars of a coal train bound for this city were derailed one mile this side of Guilford Station yesterday afternoon. The wreck occurred on a fill and the cars, totally demolished, rolling down the embankment. The track was torn up for considerable distance,, blocking traffic all night. Charlie Bilbro, a negro man who lives in this city, was on the car that first left the track and his right leg was broken just below the knee, besides sustaining bruises. Another negro with Bilbro was thrown from the car landing in the field some distance away but he was soon on his feet and went on a run towards the woods.

—New Bern special, Oct. 30.—The block of buildings belonging to Mr. J. B. Blades was destroyed by fire tonight. The buildings were located on Middle street near the river and were of little value in themselves. as they were old and in bad condition. They were occupied by feed and grain commission men, fish dealers and in a few places by negro restaurants and lodging houses. The stores were constructed of sheet iron and fighting the fire was rendered doubly hard because the flames were confined until the sheeting was red hot. This property was a small portion of the $100,000 purchase recently made by Mr. Blades There was no insurance. Origin, defective chimney.

Greensville special, Oct. 30.—Mr. Victor Cox, postmaster at Ayden, Pitt county, committed suicide last night ed by shooting in the heart. He attended to his duties in the postoffice as usual after the arrival of the evening train, and closed the office at the telephone office in the same buildnine o'clock. He then passed through ing, handed the postoffice keys to the operator, and went to his sleeping room in the rear of the telephone office. A few minutes later pistol shots were heard and the falling of a body to the floor. When a physician and friends reached the the room he was lying dead upon the floor with the pistol beside him. Mr. Cox was unmarried and a son of Mr. W. C. Cox of Greenville. He was a member of the fusion legisture of 1895 and 1897 and postmaster at Ayden for several years since then. He was also a Pythian and Odd Fellow and was buried by these orders this afternoon. No motive for the suicide has been assigned. The postoffice is temporarily in charge of the bondsman and a brother of the late postmaster.

—The executive committee of the North Carolina Jamestown Exposition Commission met in Charlotte on Tuesday to select plans for the building at the exposition. The committee selected plans by Zimmerman & Lester, of Winston-Salem, providing for a commodious building of colonal dedesign, which, it is said, will be the second largest State building, covering 5,000 square feet of space. In addition to the usual space for exhibits there will be dance and recreation halls. The building will be located very conveniently near what is known as the Commercial pier. The committee will urge every corporation and citizen of the State to do what they can to make the exhibits as large and attractive as possible. The building will be of colonial design and will cost not exceeding $15,000.

There's no use getting mad if that for sale sign you stuck on the front of your vacant house has not brought you a tenant or purchaser. Your sign has been read and reread by practically the same people, who pass by it every day and who are too intent on other things to stop and look over the property. Now, if you would advertise in the Business Locals of the Morning Star it would come before the eyes of all the people looking for real estate. This is because they are accustomed to have the Morning Star tell them what property in Wilmington may be had.

ROCK CLIFF LITHIA SPRINGS WATER.

READ WHAT ONE OF THE MOST NOTED CITIZENS OF SOUTH CAROLINA HAS TO SAY OF THE FAMOUS ROCK CLIFF SPRINGS WATER.

Spartanburg, S. C., July 24.

To Rock Cliff Lithia Springs Co.:

Gentlemen:—This will certify that I was severely afflicted with a serious case of erysipelas, that confined me to my bed for about six months or more, with daily attendance of my physician, and which eventually setled in my left leg and became so severe that a consultation of three physicians was held and the decision reached that the lower part of my leg would have to be amputated to prevent the disease extending to the upper part of my leg and body. I declined the operation and was advised to try Rock Cliff Lithia Springs Water. I engaged board near the spring and was advised to bathe my leg in the water, at the same time drinking freely.

This application soon soothed the pain, and for the first time in months previous I slept for about two hours. After a week's treatment, without any medicine or physician's help, I walked to the spring on crutches. I continued the treatment daily, and within two weeks was able to walk to the spring without crutches and in four weeks was able to walk home, a distance of 1½ miles, and resume my official business.

I was permanently cured by the use of the water, and take great pleasure in giving you this testimonial to the efficiency of the Rock Cliff Springs Water in the treatment of erysipelas.

There were pains all over me and I could not tell where they were to strike me. I used liniments and lots of remedies but nothing did me any permanent good until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Bellamy's drug store and used them. A Detective's Story

[Original.]

"We never know how a case is going to turn out," said the detective. "Sometimes we waste sympathy on people, and sometimes we don't give them sympathy that they deserve.

"Some years ago a young fellow (we will call him Lightbody—Lightbody's a good name for the sort of fellow he was) went to New York and got a position in a banking house. They said he was smart as chain lightning. At any rate, he climbed right up in the estimation of his employers, and soon he became their right hand man. But while they thought he was attending exclusively to their interests he was attending exclusively to his own. He was in everything where money is to be made or lost, though where he got the capital to work with nobody knew.

"The fellow bit off more than he could chew and to save himself used his employers' funds, and about the same time Mr. Lightbody disappeared.

"A year or two after his disappearance it was reported to his former employers that he was living in a Central American state, and I was employed to go down and bring him back. The job was a delicate one, since there was no extradition treaty with the state in which he had made his home.

"Furnished with all the evidence I would need, including photographs, I sailed for Central America and on reaching my destination found that Mr. Lightbody was at the capital and a prime favorite with the government. He had got some valuable concessions that were likely to make him rich. He had won the heart of the daughter of one of the prominent citizens, who was considered a very lovely girl.

"Of course I had letters to first class people in my pocket, for I knew before starting that my man was cutting a heavy swath socially. I waited for some important function to let me in on an equality with the man I was after. A ball was given to which I was invited, and, getting myself up in the latest style of evening dress, I joined the throng. Of course Lightbody was there, and so was his girl. During the early part of the entertainment he was in such demand and was so devoted to his fiancee that I didn't even make his acquaintance. I saw them together frequently, and it was plainly a case of genuine love on both sides. I pitied the girl; but, as I have said, I had made up my mind to attend to business and let sentiment alone.

"Shortly before the ball broke up I joined a party of men in the supper room who were drinking champagne and smoking cigarettes. Lightbody was among the number. I made an effort to ingratiate myself into his favor and had some success. But he seemed anxious to get away, and I saw him soon after dancing with his girl. When the affair broke up I stood on the veranda, keeping my carriage standing while I waited for Lightbody. Presently he came out with his fiancee and her mother, put them in a carriage, and they were driven away. Lightbody returned to the house, went inside, got his hat, came out, lighted a cigarette and was going down the steps when I stopped him and asked which way he was going. When he replied I told him that I was going the same way and would be happy to take him in my carriage. He accepted the invitation, and we got in and were driven away. We had not gone far before I said to him:

"'Mr. ——,' calling him by his real name, 'how would you like to go to New York on the steamer with me?'

"He divined the situation at once. He made no reply for some time, then said:

"'There's no extradition treaty between the United States and this country, and I could put you to some trouble, but I'll go with you provided you won't give me away here and give me time to arrange my affairs. What do you say to that?'

"'All I want is you. I don't want to peach on you. The steamer sails tomorrow night. Can you be ready?'

"'Yes.'

"The next day the fellow gave out that he had been called to New York on some important financial business and said goodby to his girl, promising to be back soon. The next evening we sailed, arriving in New York in due time.

"I wondered how his girl would feel when she heard that he was an embezzler and had gone from her to state's prison. And here's where my refraining from telling her comes in. The affair for which he was wanted involved several people besides himself, and he was the only one not to blame. The others were his friends and had families. He drew suspicion away from them by flight. On his return he presented his schemes in Central America to the losers and agreed to take them in. This he did without informing on the real culprits. The losers, finding that far more money was to be made from his concessions than they had lost, accepted his terms, gave him funds, and in two weeks he was back on the isthmus more of a high financial flier than before. His concessions turned out to be very valuable and made him and his associates rich. He married the girl and became a permanent resident of Central America. There he is greatly respected, but in the United States he is still regarded an embezzler. He never threw the blame where it belonged.

"How do I know that he was innocent? Well, that would involve a breach of trust on my part. My profession never admits of telling secrets."

Corroboration.

Each man around the store had told his tale of the "hardest rain he ever saw fall out of the sky." Tom Limkins was an easy winner with his of the great harvest rain of '93.

"It began with big drops kinder scatterin' like," he said, "then it got to a shower, and I just thought I'd crawl under the canvas on the reaper till it was over—knowed the team would stand—but, sir, when the lightnin' took to hittin' right at that binder I concluded to get out from there. I had a gallon and a half bucket on my arm, and I lit out for the mule shed. When I was about halfway there the thing begun to get heavy. I looked down, and if the blamed thing wasn't full of water I'm a"—

The lank individual who had been leaning against a barrel broke in:

"Well, now, I reckon that must 'a' been the day I am thinkin' about. What made me know it was rainin' some was seein' a flock o' wild ducks go over. Gents, them ducks had folded their wings and was just naturally paddlin'."

For the space of two minutes not a sound was heard save the purring of the cat asleep on the counter, then silently, with bowed heads, the crowd dispersed.—Woman's Home Companion.

Had Become Second Nature.

When Uncle Dave Barker had rounded out his half century in the employ of a great dry goods house he was summoned to the private office of the chief proprietor. "Uucle Dave," said the head of the house, "you have worked for this firm fifty years, haven't you?"

"Yes, sir," faltered the old man, wondering if he was going to be turned off as having outgrown his usefulness.

"Well, you needn't work any more, but you can come round every Saturday afternoon as long as you live and draw your pay. The little envelope will always be waiting for you."

Tears stood in Uncle Dave's old eyes as the head of the house, after shaking him cordially by the hand and wishing him many more years of life, bowed him out.

A few days afterward, however, he came round again.

"Mr. Stevenson," he said, "I've put in three of the hardest days' work of my life—doing nothing. If you don't mind I'll go back to my old place and kind o' hang around as if I was one of the men. Maybe I can help a little once in awhile, and I'll promise not to get in anybody's way."

Uncle Dave was allowed to have his way, and he went back to his old place, supremely happy.

$50,000 REWARD BY W. R. HERRST

Offers Enormous Amount for Conviction of Persons Committing Election Frauds

HUGHES' CROWD IN PANIC

So Mr. Hearst's Supporters Report —Hughes Friends Say He Will Carry State by 200,000—Campaign Proceeds.

New York, Oct. 31.—With election day less than a week away, the two candidates for Governor of New York are making their last appeals to the up-State voters and to-morrow will see both Charles E. Hughes and William R. Hearst headed toward Greater New York where the final arguments will be made. Their last swing around the circles has been made under adverse weather conditions and both voices worn from frequent outdoor speaking. But neither rain nor snow has dampened the enthusiasm of the crowds that gathered everywhere to greet them.

Today Mr. Hughes began his day's tour from Oswego where he spoke last night and his train to-night reached Syracuse. Tomorrow he will close his day at Schenectady and thence will return to New York city for the final series of meetings.

Mr. Hearst started from Rochester this morning for Niagara Falls. Snow and rain fell all along the line and his failing voice obliged him to discontinue outdoor speaking. To-night he appeared at five meetings at Buffalo and tomorrow night he will be in New York. There were several incidents that tended to accenuate the already intense interest in the outcome of the campaign. In this city, the feature of the day was the action of Mr. Hearst in appealing direct to Judge Otto A. Rosalsky of the Court of General Sessions to take vigorous measures against the board of elections for their alleged criminal negligence in failing to prevent the loss or destruction of Independence League nominating petitions.

Mr. Hearst has offered regards aggregatig $50,000 for the arrest and con viction of persons guilty of election frauds on November 6th.

The publication this afternoon of a cablegram from Richard Croker, in Ireland, to State Senator McCarren, Democratic leader in Kings county, reading: "Congratulate you on manly stand you have taken, win or lose," caused excitement in Democratic head quarters in Brooklyn. To Mr. Croker's cablegram, Mr. McCarren replied: "Thanks for cablegram. May I use it?" The answer was: "You may publish message." McCarren has consistently opposed W. R. Hearst since the Buffalo convention. Mr. 'Croker's first cablegram was received by Senator McCarren October 27th.

As a result of yesterday's decision of the Court of Appeals on the question of the validity of the certain nominatng petitions filed by the Independence League in this city that organization to-day issued a statement to the effect "that the Independence League's column will be found on the official ballot when the voter opens it to make his mark on election day."

Supporters of both Mr. Hughes and Mr. Hearst profess confidence in the outcome of next Tuesday's election. William Barnes, Jr., former chairman of the executive committee of the Republican State committee, who it was said at Republican headquarters had made a careful study of reports sent by town and county organizations throughout the State, estimates that Mr. Hughes will have an up-State plurality of 200,000.

The Independence League gave out a statement tonight concerning Mr. Hearst's campaign up-State in which it predicts his election. The following is part of the report:

"Reports from up-State relative to the growing Hearst's strength," says the statement, "are unusually encouraging today. The organizers who make a weekly report to the executive committee of the League were in the city and describe the panic of the Hughes supporters and the Republican machine as genuine and that the confidence of the Hearst supporters is ever increasing.

"The Republican management, as well as the Independence League management knows that the election has been won by Mr. Hearst. There is practically no Democratic defection. The southern tier is reported.

Murphy Urges Loyalty to Hearst.

New York, Oct. 31.—The following letter, it was announced today, has been sent by leader Charles F. Murphy, of Tammany Hall to all the members of the auxiliary committee of the Tammany Hall general committee:

"On the eve of the most important election ever held in this State, I take the liberty of making to you a personal appeal to support the full Democratic majority. There has been in the city a great deal of misrepresentation of the position of this organization and I desire that no member of the general or the auxiliary committee should be left in doubt as to our position, or should be misled by the statements of the Republican press. To that end I now write to ask you to do your full share towards bringing about a decided victory, and predict that if every man does his part, the Democratic ticket wil have a handsome majority on November 6th.
(Signed) "CHARLES F. MURPHY."

ARE MID-AIR ACROBATS.

Clever Circus Artists Who Perform Novel Feats on an Aerial Tremplin.

An unusually large number of novelty acts are promised for the delectation of the local public when the Barnum & Bailey circus exhibits in Wilmington, Monday, November 12th. One of the lafest which will be presented here for the first time, is called "The Aerial Tremplin." It is introduced by a company of seven imported artists—four men and three young women. From a published description of the act, the following interesting facts are taken:

"The aerial tremplin is an elaborated acrobatic act, performed in mid-air. Thirty feet above the ground a platform in three sections, is suspended. The end sections are solid, but the center of the middle one there is an elastic canvas. Above the entire apparatus are two great wheels, and nearby is suspended a mammoth ball. The Steves troupe which performs the act, begins the display by a very clever series of acrobatic feats, turning single and double somersaults from shoulder to shoulder with the same agility as upon the ground, notwithstanding that the platforms are only 12 feet long and six feet in width. The tremplin is then utilized to perform some astonishing feats. The artists spring upon the elastic canvas, and being thrown high into the air accomplish the most difficult somersaults, and finally land upon the shoulders of their companions on the end platforms. At the climax of the act two of the girls whirl around on the great wheels at railroad speed, and the globe, opening unexpectedly, discloses the figure of a pretty young girl. The act is not only clever, offering opportunities for the display of rare skill and daring, but is also new—and that is always worth while in these days when amusement purveyors are too apt to be contented with the things that are more or less conventional.

Among the other odd and curious acts that are announced for the big show are the Biseras, the famous Carmen Troupe, who turn somersaults and perform other difficult feats on a high wire; several troupes of trained animals, including sea lions, sheep, dogs, ponies, and elephants; Thompson's horses, which give a most unique display of trained intelligence, in harness; an acrobatic act in, over and around an automobile moving rapidly around the hippodrome track; the French Rowlandes, who give a gymnastic performance in a tally-ho coach and upon the backs of four swiftly running horses; Josie DeMott, the only somersault equestrienne; John Rooney, who makes somersault leaps from one horse to another running tandem: William DeMott and many others.

WARM WIRELETS.

A cablegram from Zungurer, Niguria, Africa, says that a French camel patrol consisting of one officer and 60 men was surprised and annihilated by a Senoussi force at the end of August 200 miles northeast of Lake Tchad.

Five persons were scalded to death by a column of escaping steam from a broken boiler drum in a sugar house near Vacherie, La., on Tuesday. A hole two feet square burst in the boiler drum which stood near the sugar house. The sugar house was filled with steam and when found, three white men, a little girl and a negro were still alive, but fatally burned, and in intense suffering.

Further reports from agents of the Interior Department who superintended the opening Monday of the Walker Lake Indian reservation (new gold region) in Nevada, have convinced Secretary Hitchcock that the infractions of the regulations governing the opening were not serious enough to warrant a recommendation in favor of invalidating it.

J. W. Horton, near Fannin, Levy county, Fla., whose wife was shot and killed while sitting on her porch Saturday last, has been arrested on suspicion. It is alleged he was seen to shoot his wife, mount a stump to see if there were any eye-witnesses then enter the house and raise a cry for help. It is also said that her life was insured.

BRYAN LEAGUE FIGHTS HEARST

Considers Him Menace to Nebraskan's Nomination for Presidency in 1908—Feared Hearst Will Disrupt Democratic Party.

(N. Y. Times, Oct. 30.)

For many reasons which it has enumerated, but principally because in William R. Hearst it sees a menace to the candidacy of William Jennings Bryan for the Presidency in 1908, the Bryan Democratic League came out yesterday in opposition to Hearst for Governor, denouncing him as a menace to the Democratic Party, and pledging itself to work for his defeat.

The action of the league, which numbers 14,000 members, was taken through its Executive Committee in a long session in its headquarters at the Hoffman House yesterday. On its Executive Committee six counties are represented, and the organization has active branches in nearly every county in the State, where similar action will be taken in the course of the week. An active campaign against Mr. Hearst will also be waged from the New York headquarters.

The President of the league is Albert S. Dulin, a close friend of Mr. Bryan, who campaigned with him in 1896. He was then known as "The Boy Orator of the Platte," and he and those associated with him were active in according Mr. Bryan a welcome when he returned from abroad. In view of the fact that Mr. Bryan declared for Mr. Hearst several days ago, Mr. Dulin was asked what, in his opinion, Mr. Bryan would do about the league's action.

"He won't repudiate it, you can be sure of that," said Mr. Dulin, "and if he takes issue with our action, we will be ready with an answer. Mr. Bryan declared for Hearst because he could not afford to be put down as irregular, when the question of his nomination to the Presidency arose in 1908. We are in no such positon. We do not have to be regular. We are Democrats who see in the election of Hearst the disruption of the Democratic Party, and we are for that and for Bryan first of all.

"It will be recalled that Mr. Bryan stumped New York and the rest of the country for Judge Parker in 1904. That did not keep 1,400,000 Democrats from voting for Roosevelt, and we are acting in the spirit that they acted two years ago. I know Mr. Bryan as well as any one, and I am prepared to say he realizes that in this man Hearst lies the greatest menace to a united Democratic Party in 1908. We also assert that we are no more irregular in opposing Hearst than he was in saying that he would disrupt the Democratic Party if it nominated any one but him at Buffalo. Our action has been well considered, and our resolutions today are the result. We believe our action will beat Hearst to a certainty?"

Made Happy for Life.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent, at St. Albans, W. Va., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' Dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters; and I rejoice to say, three bottles effected a complete cure." Quick, sure cure for nervous complaints, general debility, female weaknesses, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy's drug store. Price 50c.

MISS SARTORIS BECOMES A BRIDE

Grand-Daughter of Gen. U. S. Grant Married to G. H. Wollston and Will Reside in Florida This Winter.

(New York Times, Oct. 30.)

Rose Mary Sartoris, daughter of Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris and a grand daughter of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, was married at noon yesterday to George H. Woolston, the architect engineer, and Southern planter, in Cavalry Church at Fourth Avenue and Twentieth street.

The news of the wedding will be a surprise to the friends of the young people for although they had been engaged for eight months it had not been announced. Mrs. Sartoris and her daughter have been abroad for some time and only returned from Europe on the steamship Blucher on Sunday. Because Mrs. Sartoris is ill it was decided to have the wedding as quiet as possible. The Rev. T. F. Turner officiated.

Gen. Frederick D. Grant was detained at Governors Island, but sent a congratulatory telegram. Mrs. Sartoris was present and the bride was given away by Mr. Jones of Chicago, a friend of the family. Woodruff Sutton of New York was best man.

Mr. Wollston came from England about fifteen years ago. He is the owner of large plantations in and near Hibernia, Fla. There was no reception or breakfast after the wedding ceremony, the bride and bridegroom starting on their wedding journey as soon as it was finished. January they will go to Florida and make their Winter home at Mr. Wollston's plantation. In the Spring they will come to New York to live.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, Oct. 31.—The cotton market had a fairly active day and after selling at a new low level during the early session, rallied and closed steady at a net advance of 1 to 2 points. Sales for the day were estimated at 275,000 bales. The market opened steady at an advance of 16 points on October on covering of a few belated shorts in that position, while later months were unchanged to 9 points higher on better cables than expected. There was a renewal of bear pressure on the call, however, and the market broke within the first few minutes with January selling off to 10.05 and March to 10.25 or the lowest figure so far reported on the bear movement. At the decline there was enough covering to cause a rally of 6 or 7 points, but the forecast for warmer weather in the western belt sent the market back to nearly the previous low point.

The eastern belt forecast received later was for colder weather and the market rallied again in the afternoon with January at 10.20 and March 10.37 in the late trading. The close was within a few points of the best for the day and there was some buying attributed to brokers working for some of the big short interests. Receipts continued heavy but the end of the month's exports were very large.

Receipts at the ports today were 90,964 bales against 75,022 last week and 43,656 last year. For the week 465,000 bales against 467,415 last week and 350,220 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 24,083 bales against 6,171 last year and at Houston 20,987 bales against 23,426 last year.

Spot cotton quiet; middling uplands, 10.50; middling gulf, 10.75; sales 1,384 bales.

A Lingual Mystery

[Original.]

Tracy Swain, the youngest professor of Greek in America, huntsman, fisherman, canoeist, was spending his summer vacation in a canoe and a tent. He was lying one afternoon on his back smoking his pipe on the bank of a stream, his canoe moored to a tree on the margin, enjoying the delightful rustle of the leaves and the occasional lowing of a distant cow or the twitter of a bird, when he was startled at hearing near by a woman's voice repeating one of the odes of Horace. At first he thought it must come from some student from a neighboring college, but he remembered that there was no college, except the one he hailed from, within many miles. He had no time to wonder further, for a young girl not more than sixteen years old suddenly came into view. She was strolling aimlessly, plucking a low hanging leaf or stooping to pluck a wild flower, evidently unconscious of his presence till within a few yards of him. Then she started and stared at him. He rose and took off his hat.

"I confess," he said, "that I am surprised to find a girl in these woods so far from any habitation."

The girl stood looking, dazed, at the rencontre, but said nothing.

"Perhaps you are studying botany," the professor added, "and have wandered away from your class."

"I don't know what that is," replied the girl.

"Singular," he said, partly to himself, partly to her, "that you should know Latin and not know the meaning of the word 'botany.'"

"I don't know what that is either."

The professor looked at her incredulously. "Not know Latin? Why, you have been repeating my favorite ode of the poet Horace."

"I never heard of him."

Here was a puzzle. The girl spoke with evident sincerity, and there was no apparent reason why she should speak an untruth.

"Well," he said presently, "be that as it may, you are certainly far from any house. Where do you belong?"

The girl knit her brows and seemed to try to recall something. Then she said plaintively, "I don't remember."

Something was wrong with her mental equipment, and she must be taken to her friends if they could be found, and, if not, somewhere where she would be cared for. Swain catechised her till he made up his mind that she could tell him nothing, then put her into his canoe, pointed it down stream and began to paddle for home. Had he not been curious to discover how a girl who did not know the meaning of the word Latin could repeat poetry in that language he might have left her with some farmer on his way. As it was, he designed taking her to the university town where he lived and call a conference of his colleagues to sit on the case with a view of learning if she were a lingual prodigy.

He paddled forty miles and at sunset, tying his canoe to its accustomed landing, took the girl home and put her in charge of his mother.

During the night he heard a voice and, going to his door, listened. The girl was repeating in the original Greek passages which, he recognized, were from Anabasis of Xenephon. Great was the young professor's astonishment, but it was greater when she suddenly turned to repeating words which he knew to be Hebrew.

"Well," he said to himself, with a gasp, "I had better resign my chair in her favor."

The next morning he sent for several of the professors who were at home to meet him at his house. He introduced the girl and asked her to repeat what he had heard the night before, but she was apparently not conscious that she had repeated anything. The men who had been summoned went away, but during the afternoon Swain, hearing the girl repeating lines in Sanskrit, called one of them, who happened to be passing, and proved what he had claimed. There was a meeting of linguists at Swain's home that evening to talk the matter over, but with no satisfactory result.

An advertisement was inserted in several local papers describing the case, and in a few days the physician of a hospital near where the girl had been found appeared and identified her as a patient who had wandered away from the institution. But he gave no explanation of her ability to recite in the ancient languages. She had been brought to the hospital by one who had found her wandering as Swain had found her. The doctor took her back with him, but Swain never lost sight of her for two years, when suddenly her memory returned to her and he got his explanation. She had lost her parents when a child and had been taken in by a clergyman, a profound linguist, who was accustomed to walk the floor of his study repeating his favorite authors in the original text. The girl, having a remarkable memory, had learned them from hearing them often repeated. After the clergyman's death she had had a long illness that had unsettled her brain.

Elma Redford—such was the girl's name—completely recovered her health and received an education which came from an interest excited by the mystery that had surrounded her. She was offered free tuition at the college near where she was found, and a purse was raised for her maintenance. She developed a remarkable ability for acquiring languages and became proficient in a number of them. She is now Mrs. Professor Swain, and when her husband wishes to go canoeing in term time she occupies his chair and lectures to his classes.

NO FIGHTING WITH UTE INDIANS

Cavalry Captured Their Ponies, But Red Skins Retook Them in Skirmish

DIDN'T SHOOT AT SOLDIERS

Believed That Regenades Will Fight If Pushed—They Are Quietly Hunting in Mountains—Crows and Cheyennes on Move.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 31.—Advices received at army headquarters late this afternoon from Major Grierson, in command of the detachment of the Tenth Cavalry which first took the field in pursuit of the Utes in Wyoming, say that there is no prospect of a clash between the troops and the Indians. The latter are quietly hunting in the mountains near their camp on the Powder River instead of moving toward the Cheyenne reservation, as reported. Major Grierson expects to have a conference with the chief of the band in a day or two.

Skirmish With Indians.

Sheridan, Wyo., October 31.—A skirmish occurred today between a band of the regenade Ute Indians and a troop of the Tenth Cavalry in Bitter Creek, according to word brought by a special courier. The troops had captured 50 Ute ponies, severely frightening five Indian herders.

As the troopers were driving away the ponies, 100 Utes fully armed, surrounded the cavalrymen and the ponies, stampeding the ponies with revolver shots and war whoops. The Indians recovered all the ponies but five that were killed by the troops in an effort to stop the stampede.

The Indians did not fire at the soldiers. The soldiers desisted from attacking the Utes, as the Reds greatly outnumbered the troopers. Troopers say that "as far as they can ascertain from rumor and observation the Indians will fight with little provocation.

Another detachment of the Tenth Cavalry that left Sheridan Monday night ran acros a wandering band of 100 Crow Indians under command of Chief Sweet Mouth. They denied any intention of joining the Utes. Still another squad of the Tenth Cavalry fell in with a band of Cheyenne Indians who on representation that they were hunting were allowed to go in peace.

Settlers charge that Indian guides employed by the Federal troops are acting treacherously and leading the troops on false trails to keep the soldiers from overtaking the Utes. These settlers mention among the wiley scouts Woman's Dress, American Horse and White Cow Bull.

FAMOUS ANDERSONVILLE PRISON

Daughters of Confederacy Determined to Erect Monument to Keeper Wirz.

Americus, Ga., Oct. 31.—At the annual meeting of the Georgia division United Daughters of the Confederacy, today, a report of Mrs. A. B. Hull, of Savannah, the president who last year inaugurated the plan to erect a monument to Major Henry Wirz, the Andersonville prison keeper, was read, in which she speaks of opposition to the plan in some sections as follows:

"There was never any object undertaken by our society that has met with such widespread interest, such loyal support and such violent antagonism. The latter has taken the wildest form, indulged in the most insane abuse, not sparing in any way the women of the Georgia division, or the South in general, and we have answered never a word but have simply gone and proved our case and mean to establish the truth forever, when we unveil our monument. A campaign of education, it has verily been, for I do not believe any of us knew how ignorant we were of the history of that period unveil our monument. A campaign of education, it has verily been, for I do not believe any of us knew how ignorant we were of the history of that period until we went into this matter as we have been obliged to do in order to give an answer for the faith that was in us."

Mrs. Hull also said that a picture of Winnie Davis will be placed in the dormitory of the Rabun Georgia Industrial School which is conducted by the Daughters as a memorial to both Mrs. Jefferson and the Daughters of the Confederacy.

In a violent fit of coughing shortly before his death at a hospital at Portland, Ore., on Tuesday, H. L. Mills, an Oregon pioneer of 1876 and a nephew of Gen. Robert E. Lee, raised from his lungs a buckshot that he had carried in his body since the Civil War, when as a member of the Fifteenth New York engineer corps, he fought against the army commanded by his mother's brother.

ANNA GOULD'S DIVORCE SUIT

Racy Proceedings in the Tribunal of First Instance at Paris

HUSBAND INFAMOUS BRUTE

Count Pinched and Struck the Countess and Lead Profligate and Shameful Life—Squandered $8,000,000 of Her Money.

Paris, Oct. 31.—Before a crowd which taxed the capacity of the court room in the palace of justice in the old Latin quarter, the case of the Countess de Castellane for divorce from her husband Count Boni de Castellane, was begun this afternoon.

Count Boni's attorneys made no effort for further postponement and with Henri Ditte president of the tribunal of first instance of the Seine, presiding, and with two associate justices on the bench, Maitre Cruppi presented the plea of the Countess for absolute divorce and the custody of the children. His plea was made upon documentary evidence and without summoning witnesses.

The great lawyer spoke for four and one half hours with an intermission of only fifteen minutes. The case was adjourned before Maitre Cruppi's argument was finished, and he still seemed to have plenty of ammunition in the locker.

Such a severe arraignment has probably seldom been heard in this court room. He painted Count Boni in the blackest of colors, declaring him to be rapacious, brutal and licentious, while the countess was held up as the long suffering and innocent victim. Nothing was spared and nothing was glossed over.

In an extended review, counsel declared that the Countess at the beginning of the suit was not acting under influence, but solely for the purpose of ending forever the peril of the moral desolation of her household. He explained the marriage contract by which the regime of separation of property was established from the very beginning and stated that domestic difficulties are over the question of money. Ill treatment soon followed, the Count even striking the plaintiff before the servants. When he reached the question of infidelity charge against the Count Maitre Cruppi did not mention ames or even initials, designating the correspondents as "Madame A," "Madame B," and so on. Maitre Cruppi asked that the Countess be given the custody of her three children.

Counsel for the Countess spoke for an hour and a half, and had not finished when the Court took a recess. Counsel's presentation of the case of the plaintiff constituted a complete and pitiful story of the wreck of her married life, due primarily to the Count's inordinate extravagance. Even in spite of their domestic infelicity the Countess was too good and scrupulous to begin an action for divorce until she possessed full proof. She was only twenty when she was married in 1895 and, Maitre Cruppi asserted the happiness of the honeymoon was disturbed on their arrival in Paris by the Count's demand for money. The Countess' incomes was then $700,000 and the Count allowed her $80 pin money.

The court room was crowded, among those being present were many members of the American colony.

By 1899 the Countess interests M. Cruppi said, were so heavily compromised by the Count's extravagance that it necessitated a family meeting in New York and the appointment of a legal trustee. But the difficulties regarding money were unceasing, and in order to obtain funds, the Count pawned or sold at ridiculous prices the most costly objects. When the Countess protested the Count abused her in the presence of servants and when she declined to attach her signature to documents he frequently pinched her and someone struck her, the first time being four months after their marriage.

In the Countess' pleading, M. Cruppi protested against the malicious reports in regard to "the Countess intentions," and announced that she would leave France for America immediately after a divorce is granted her. In recounting the Count's infidelity, the first instance cited by counsel was that with a married woman described as "Madame A," in 1898. The correspondence was conducted through M. Moret, the Count's secretary. The Countess accidentlly discovered in the Castellane chateau a packet of love letters and when she protested the Count struck her. The Countess eventually placed the letters in the custody of a lawyer.

M. Cruppi read a passionate extract from one of the love letters fixing a rendezvous at Dijon. It read: "I am kissing you on the neck. Do you feel it?" and so on.

Counsel also detailed liasons with "Madame B.," and "Madame C," whom the Count met in apartments which he rented in different parts of Paris.

M. Cruppi read from a note book kept by the cook of one of these apartments, giving brutally plain details of what counsel characterized as "an unpardonable offense against the Countess." He also recounted the liason with "Madame C," whose maid mounted guard and signalled from a window when the coast was clear.

"But," the counsel continued, "the Count's love affairs were not confined to ladies of society. They include numerous other women," the reading of whose letters created merriment in court.

Mr. Cruppi said that the Count's defense would probably be that, being young and rich, he could not protect himself against the assaults of love-sick women. In the face of the overwhelming evidence submitted, M. Cruppi declared, his opponent could not expect the tribunal to ask for the summoning of witnesses. Counsel added: "Does he imagine by dragging out the case to obtain forgiveness? No, no, Count Boni's plan to re-conquer his wife's affection is too transparent."

The final rupture came the day after the famous entertainment of King Charles of Portugal, December 12, 1905.

The Count at that time insisted that the Countess go with him to a shooting party given by a noble lady of whom the Countess had cause to complain and the Count becoming enraged at the Countess' refusal, she abruptly announced her intention to separate from him and began legal proceedings.

Counsel placed at $8,000,000 the total of the Count's expenditures preceeding the appointment of a trustee. At one time there was a seizure of their property in a suit for the recovery of a debt amounting to $229,600.

M. Cruppi had not finished his presentation o fthe case when the hearing was adjourned until next week.

DARING BALLOON ASCENSION.

Dr. Johnson Dragged Long Distance After High Trip.

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 31.—Dr. Julian P. Thomas, of New York, today made here a most daring ascension in his balloon Nirvana. Owing to the location of the fair grounds, some distance from the city, the bag had to be inflated some miles away and it was intended to tow it to the grounds up the canal. The stream proved too narrow and the bag frequently caught in trees and was more or less damaged. When about a mile from the allotted place of ascent Dr. Thomas decided to try no longer and mounting into the network he seated himself on the concentrated ring and cut away the entangled basket. He arose like a shot and travelled in a southwesterly direction to an estimated height of 5,000 feet. When about seven miles from Augusta the valve which had been damaged Monday and had been patched with surgeons adhesive plaster, began leaking rapidly and the aeronaut shot down too rapidly for comfort. Not having any ballast he endeavored to lighten ship by cutting off his shoes, heavy leather leggings and threw away his coat and contents of his pockets. The descent was but little checked and he plumped down in the middle of a cotton field. Owing to his location in the rigging, Dr. Thomas was unable to get from under and was caught in the folds of the bag when it struck. It then started across the field, dragging Dr. Thomas nearly a quarter of a mile before he could extricate himself. He was badly scrotched and lascerated but is not seriously injured. Dr. Thomas described it as the most trying ascent he has yet made. He said the local difficulties were insurmountable for making a regular ascension, and in order not to miss the opportunity he had dared to go up without any car or apparatus, not even having ballast. He presented a sorry appearance after the rough experience but says he will recover in a day or two.

PROGRESS OF BOLL WEEVIL.

Early Cold Probably Kept Them From Crossing Mississippi River.

New Orleans, Oct. 31.—Search to determine whether the boll weevil has crossed the Mississippi river from Louisina into the State of Mississippi was begun to-day in the vicinity of Nachez by officials of the State crop pest commission. At the beginning of the year it was announced by government experts that the weevil would probably flrt appear crossing the river this fall, as it was agreed that the river would prove no barrier to the pests' eastward progress. Recent cold weather, however, has retarded the immigration and the present search is conducted under the hope that the weevil may be found still confined to the western side of the river

DISEASED CATTLE SOLD FOR FOOD

Sensational Disclosures Before Grand Jury in Vermont Court Inquiry Yesterday

TEN INDICTMENTS MADE

Couple of Companies and Two State Officials Prosecuted—Sold Beef That Had Been Condemned—Contempt Fine of $3,000.

Burlington, Vt., Oct. 31.—Sensational charges were made to-day in 10 indictments which were returned by the Chittenden county grand jury in connection with the sale of diseased cattle is the State, and in the sale of which, according to the indictments, two former members of the State Cattle Commission participated with a full knowledge that such cattle would be used for food purposes.

Four of the indictments were against the Consolidated Rendering Company. Four additional indictments were against L. E. Brigham, manager of the Burlington Rendering Company. This company is controlled by the Consolidated Company. The most sensational disclosures were made in the indictments which were returned against Dr. R. F. Rich, a veterinary ofthis city and Victor L. Spur, of Randolph, both of whom were former members of the State Cattle Commission.

The indictments against the Consolidated Company and Brigham charge the sale of diseased meat in the State for the purpose of putting it on sale. Rich and Spur are charged with selling diseased beef which had previously been condemned, to the rendering companies.

All of the defendants furnished bond for their appearance at the March term of the Chittenden County court.

Before the grand jury reported at the morning session of the court, Judge Rowell imposed a fine of $3,000 on the Consolidated Rendering Company for its failure to produce before the jury certain papers and memoranda which had been demanded.
